GMH Thanks The Advertisers, Friends, Director, Cast, And You, The Audience, For Making THE GMH FOLLIES A Success

Edward H. Horner, Jr.

Our director - choreographer started his theatrical career in Minnesota, at the age of 11.

Ed appeared in operettas and variety shows while attending Cathedral High in his hometown. He later attended the University of Minnesota, and the McPhail School of Music in Minneapolis. He also studied at the Ballet Theatre School, New York, and the Caisse School of Dance, in Massachusetts.

While serving in the U.S. Army, Horner participated in over 75 musicals, revues, and variety shows for the First Army Entertainment Team. His various talents were utilized as either producer, director, choreographer, or performer.

He has been associated with such celebrities as Johnny Carson, Barbara McNair, Dick Van Dyke, Dale Robertson, Arnie Palmer, the late President Johnson and Lady Bird Johnson, Rosalind Russell, Merv Griffin, Ned Beatty, Jack Warden, and several Miss America winners to name a few.

Horner was a surfer - dancer in the movie "Gidget Goes Hawaiian" and played the second lead in "West Side Story" for summer stock.

He has directed musicals and revues in Corpus Christi, Texas; Montgomery, Alabama; Saginaw, Michigan; Wallington, Connecticut; Everett, Washington; Kansas City, Kansas; Sault St. Marie, Ontario; Minneapolis, Minnesota; Baltimore, Maryland; Jackson, Mississippi; Georgetown, Kentucky; Dayton, Ohio; Newcomberstown, Ohio; Mitchel, South Dakota; Tampa, Florida; and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

During the summer, Ed directs and choreographs Historical Spectaculars, summer stock, and civic theater productions throughout the country.

When not on the road, Ed and his daughter, Tanya Jo, and son, Brent Michael, travel and spend time together.
